ICSTTE 2024

Overview

The 2024 International Conference on SmartRail, Traffic, and Transportation Engineering (ICSTTE 2024) aims to bring together scholars, managers, researchers, and students from the academia and industry for intellectual exchanges, research cooperation, education, and professional development. The conference is organized by Beijing Jiaotong University, China Electrotechnical Society, and Chinese Institute of Electronics. ICSTTE 2024 will offer keynote speakers and several research topics, for presentations on theoretical research findings and case studies in SmartRail, Traffic, and Transportation Engineering and its related fields. The conference also offers excellent networking opportunities to participants, with a wonderful taste of local culture and scenery in Chongqing, China on October 25-27, 2024.

Topics of interest include, but are not limited to:

- Railway transportation
- Air transportation
- Maritime transportation
- Automated transportation
- Public transit
- Highway design and control
- Transportation safety
- Land use planning
- Sustainable transportation
- Heritage, Local, and regional identity
- Transportation infrastructure management
- Economics and policy

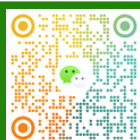

Publication

All accepted and presented papers will be published in digital conference proceedings, which will send for reviewed and indexing by major citation databases such as EI Compendex, Scopus, CPCI, and Google Scholar. Selected papers will be considered for submission to journals after significant extension. These papers will be considered for a regular issue on Smart and Resilient Transportation Systems or special issue on Green Energy and Intelligent Transportation.
